The Mei Quan Academy of Tai Chi & Qi Gong has been established for over 20 years.

Tai Chi and Qi Gong are traditional Chinese physical arts which cultivate life energy ("Qi", pronounced "Chee"). Regular practise brings better health, increased energy levels and greater ability to deal with stress and pressure.

The movements are energetic, elegant and subtle. Students develop ever more refined physical and mental skills, as knowledge & understanding of all aspects of their self increase.

You can learn and practise Tai Chi and Qi Gong at your individual pace, and, as there are ever new levels, through the rest of your life. These disciplines rely on a mindful re-discovery of the body to enrich and one's experience of any aspect of life.

There are different levels and ways of training within the school, depending on students' abilities and wishes-you can attend: one or more general weekly classes; the more in-depth classes usually held on the same evening; workshops taught by the head of the school at weekends; and classes specifically designed for intermediates and senior students.

Mei Quan exists to promote the full understanding of traditional Yang style Tai Chi, and we pride ourselves on teaching, in depth and solidly, the traditional syllabus.
